Critically Acclaimed Author Travis Thrasher, A Creative Addition to the Tower Business Center

Travis Thrasher was born in Tennessee, lived in Germany from 2nd to 4th grade, moved around to 10 or 12 different houses, went to four different high schools, but now calls the Tower Business Center home...at least for his office. Thrasher has published 13 diverse novels in the last decade and continues to amaze his readers with his ability to write, and write well, in multiple genres: romance, drama, suspense, and supernatural thrillers. His continual attempt to be kept out of a writer's "box" coincides with Batavia Enterprises' experience with keeping out of the property management "box." Batavia Enterprises leases, manages and renovates residential, commercial, industrial, and warehousing in Batavia, St. Charles, Geneva, and West Chicago. No box can fit Batavia Enterprises; Travis Thrasher will fit in perfectly.

Batavia Enterprises won the heart of what could be the next Stephen King because of their sound reputation and establishment within the Tri-Cities. Thrasher also loves the charm of downtown Batavia and how the Tower Business Center is in the heart of it. He is coming up on his 10 year anniversary of being published and looks forward to the quiet and relaxing atmosphere of the building to help him write the books he's dying to write to keep him published for a decade more.

What should have been a 20 minute Q & A turned into an hour of pure entertainment. Whether it's through his cleverly addictive books or in an interview recounting stories of his past and hopes for the future, Thrasher is an extremely talented author with a knack for capturing his audience's attention. Thrasher's new thriller, Broken, comes out May 25th, so be sure to check your local bookstore for Broken or purchase it and his 12 other titles through his website, www.travisthrasher.com.
