CMIT Solutions of The Tri-Cities Offers Free Educational Webinars for Local Business Owners Nationally-syndicated columnist Lisa Earle McLeod to discuss professional networking, hiring, growth strategies and more

Batavia, NY (Grassroots Newswire) July 13, 2010 – CMIT Solutions of The Tri-Cities, the information technology partner to Batavia’s small businesses, invites owners and management from the area’s small businesses to take advantage of their free Summer Webinar Series, Growing Your Small Business (without giving up your life), featuring Lisa Earle McLeod.

McLeod is the top-selling author of Forget Perfect™, which is in its fourth printing, and is a nationally syndicated columnist. Her articles have appeared in publications like Forbes, Newsweek, USA Today, and O Magazine, as well as on Good Morning America and other major market network affiliates from Atlanta to Los Angeles. Using her trademark wit and humor, McLeod will address the common challenges facing small businesses and provide insights designed to help owners and management see the big picture and grow their business.

“The time is now for local small businesses to make bold changes, to consider new solutions and to overcome challenges. Lisa will compel webinar guests to take a long, hard look at their businesses and make adjustments,” said Deb Reiter of CMIT Solutions of The Tri-Cities. “The mission of our Small Business Webinar Series is to simply inspire people to take action and help local entrepreneurs succeed.”

The webinars began on June 24, 2010, and future webinars are scheduled for July 22nd and August 26th. In each webinar, McLeod focuses on providing tips that can improve results for today’s small business professionals working in fast-paced office environments. Session topics range from professional networking and making good hiring decisions to putting the right strategies in place to grow small businesses.

During the webinars, McLeod and experts from CMIT Solutions respond in real time to questions that participants pose through the online platform.

Recordings for all webinars in the series are available at www.cmitsolutions.com/grow.

To register for the webinars and to see the current monthly lineup of education sessions, small business owners and management should visit www.cmitsolutions.com/grow.
